UM GRAD STUDENT TO GIVE MULTI-MEDIA RECITAL

Neil Feather, University of Montana graduate student in art, will give a multi-media presentation of his music and art work on Friday, May 2, at 8 p.m. in the Music Recital Hall of the UM Music Building. The performance is free and open to the public.

In the performance, titled "Some Music," Feather will use unconventional musical instruments which he built himself. His ceramic sculpture will be used in the presentation as stage props, and a taped portion of music will also be included.

Feather, who earned a bachelor of fine arts degree from Pennsylvania State University in 1978, is working in conjunction with UM professor of music Joseph Mussulman in preparation for the performance.
